2 THE COURT: Okay, good morning. This is Judge
3 Drain. We are here in In re Sears Holdings Corporation, et 4 al. I have the agenda for today's hearings and I'm happy to 5 go down that. Each of these matters is being heard remotely
6 primarily by Zoom unless someone doesn't have access to a 7 screen, in which case they are appearing by telephone.

8 So the first matter on the agenda is listed as an 9 uncontested matter, but I'm glad it's on the agenda because 10 it's somewhat -- it was a proposed order sought by notice of 11 presentment without a motion itself or a memorandum of law
12 supporting the notice of presentment. And I was a little 13 confused about the nature of the relief being sought. So 14 I'm not sure I would have entered the order without further 15 explanation in any event. But we are here I gather for that 16 explanation. So someone from the Debtors I assume is going 17 to talk about this one.

18 MR. FAIL: Good morning, Your Honor. It's Garrett
19 Fail from Weil Gotshal for the Debtors.

20 THE COURT: Good morning.

21 MR. FAIL: Good morning. So we did file a notice 22 of presentment at Docket 10294. It was consistent with my 23 presentation at the last hearing and consistent with the 24 notices that we had filed at Docket 10295 and the status
25 report at Docket 10240.

1 So what we announced at that last hearing, Judge,
2 was that the Debtors were prepared to make another 3 distribution, the fourth distribution, pursuant to the 4 administrative consent program and the confirmation order
5 and that the Debtors determined after consultation with not 6 only their restructuring committee but also the pre-7 effective date committee, which included the administrative 8 claims representative and the representative selected by the 9 UCC, as well as each of those individuals' counsel and 10 financial advisors, that to increase the administrative 11 deficiencies of the cases going forward and consistent with 12 past orders of this Court permitting distributions to what 13 were de minimis claims, the Debtors could satisfy up to 200
14 claims administrative claims that were opt-in or non-opt-15 out, so not changing who would receive the money, but that 16 there were 200 parties that were owed $20,000 and that if we 17 -- $20,000 which goes up to their 75 percent or 80 percent 18 cap depending on which category they fall into.

19 And so rather than making smaller distributions 20 over time, keeping track of claims on trade, checking for 21 tax IDs and OFAC forms, dealing with checks that didn't get 22 cashed, you know, and dealing with all of the mailings, that 23 we could end 200 additional parties' involvement with the 24 cases.

25 Your Honor had previously approved it in

1 connection with the first distribution of de minimis 2 procedure which allowed us to satisfy -- I forget the exact 3 number -- between a thousand and 1,200, 1,300 claims of 4 similar entitlement. But at this point in time after three 5 previous distributions, 200 parties were owed $20,000, and 6 we decided to move forward. We had announced that at the 7 last status conference. We filed the notice of presentment
8 to permit that as well as to permit the payment of certain 9 prepetition priority taxes which I've previewed at the 10 status conference as well. Those claims continue to assert 11 interest. The parties that are in this taxing jurisdiction, 12 some continue to file claims that have to be addressed by 13 M3, some just keep updating their websites. The goal would 14 be to pay less than a million dollars to satisfy over 70, 80
15 parties and take them off the board as well.

16 So there were no objections to that, and we worked 17 with the administrative claims rep, as I mentioned, and the 18 pre-effective date committee to get their sign on. And 19 they've reached out to some of their constituents as well, 20 including some of the larger administrative claimholders who 21 were supportive of it.

22 The reason that we put the notice of presentment
23 on for today, in our minds, it wasn't to further support
24 that we thought that that was accepted, but it was to share 25 good news with parties in interest following our filing of

1 the distribution notice, which projected that the Debtors
2 would be able to hit the 50 percent distribution to 3 remaining creditors and satisfy up to $20,000 to 200 4 parties.

5 The Debtors were successful in collecting cash and 6 reducing expenses, and collectively between those efforts 7 and recalculating disputed claims reserve, we'll be able to 8 make an additional distribution beyond what was announced 9 previously.

10 So as a result, instead of distributing $17.7
11 million, up to $18.6 million can go out the door. And that 12 would allow -- and so then the question was amongst the 13 parties making the distribution and the parties in interest, 14 where should that go. The Debtors again consulted with the 15 pre-effective date committee with the support of the 16 administrative claims rep, and we were told holders of large 17 claims we proposed to increase the de minimis distribution
18 cap from $20,000 to $25,000. That would increase the number 19 of claims that could be satisfied to 230. It would leave, 20 Your Honor, only 214 opt-ins and non-opt-out claims to be 21 satisfied. It would leave only 196 claimants to be 22 satisfied in those categories. So for a small amount extra, 23 we could pay off more than half of the parties that are 24 collecting distributions and we could also increase the 25 distribution to those remaining from 50 to 51 percent.

1 So if Your Honor is inclined to grant the motion, 2 we would propose two changes. One is that the conditions to 3 satisfy these de minimis claims would be satisfied only when 4 the Debtors are able to pay 51 percent to the remaining
5 rather than the 50 we proposed, and we believe we are. So 6 it's not going to be a question.

7 And then we would change the de minimis threshold
8 from 20 to 25. And out of the 444 expected claims, we think 9 we satisfy 230, leaving 214. So we think it's good news.
10 We think it's a fair allocation and further progress in the 11 case.

12 THE COURT: Okay. I just have the following
13 questions on this. First, under the confirmation order, 14 there was a procedure for dealing with administrative claims
15 with the opt-in/opt-out, et cetera. Is it the parties' 16 belief that under that program, there is authority to make 17 these distributions, i.e. on notice? There's no limitation, 18 for example, on what can be paid on smaller claims, et 19 cetera? In other words, is this matter of discretion and 20 the Debtors are exercising their discretion in consultation
21 with the representative of the Administrative Expense Group, 22 et cetera?

23 MR. FAIL: Everything is discretionary with Court 24 approval, Judge, right? So we don't think we have the 25 authority to do it. We don't think we have to -- without

1 Court authority. We don't think that the prior de minimis 2 order -- the prior de minimis order, when you read the 3 language, was limited to the claims that we identified in 4 the first round.

5 THE COURT: No, I agree. The prior de minimis 6 order doesn't limit what you can do in the future. I just 7 want to make sure it's your understanding that under the 8 plan, which I really can't amend or can't approve an 9 amendment of in this fashion at least, there is authority to 10 make this distribution.

11 MR. FAIL: We think it's consistent with the 12 authority that you granted in the order in aid of execution 13 of the plan the first time following confirmation. That 14 permitted the payment of 1,200 out of the 1,500, whatever
15 the numbers were. But this proportion of majority of claims 16 were satisfied in full --

17 THE COURT: I just want to make -- it's often the 18 case in plans that a plan authorizes de minimis claimants to 19 get a distribution up to a certain amount and no more.
20 Sometimes it's a hundred percent without interest, sometimes 21 it's 75 percent, et cetera. I don't think there's that type 22 of provision here.

23 MR. FAIL: You are correct, Judge. There isn't.

24 THE COURT: Okay. That's what I wanted
25 confirmation of. So the condition here from the larger

1 creditors that there be at least a 50 percent distribution, 2 now 51 percent, is just a question of what it took to get 3 consent for the overall --

4 MR. FAIL: It was to make sure we didn't -- it was 5 that, Judge, and it was to make sure that if we fell short,
6 we wouldn't have paid off a hundred percent and come up 7 short and given out instead of 13 or 14 percent, five to 8 ten. That this was, if the assumptions held as we said and 9 we had the cash collected, that we would be able to make a 10 substantial distribution to those parties, over 13 or 14
11 percent on their allowed amount. And that --

12 THE COURT: And that's fine. I have no problem
13 with that type of bargaining or agreement as long as it
14 doesn't alter the plan. And my belief is it doesn't alter 15 the plan, but I just wanted to raise the issue, to ask the 16 parties whether this was somehow a modification of the plan 17 in their view.

18 MR. FAIL: We don't think it is, but I see Ms.
19 Morabito has got her hand raised.

20 THE COURT: Okay. You go ahead, Mr. Morabito.

21 MS. MORABITO: Thanks, Your Honor. Good morning.
22 Erika Morabito, Quinn Emanuel, on behalf of the 23 Administrative Expense Claims Representative.

24 I think I am generally in agreement with Mr. Fail
25 and the Court. I think the only difference is in the words

1 consult versus consent.

2 I do believe that any -- I don't want to say 3 modification, but any exercise of discretion with respect to 4 de minimis amounts that can be paid that may be inconsistent 5 if you will generally with what the plan allowed in terms of 6 the claims procedures order I do think can be addressed
7 between counsel and the Administrative Claims Representative
8 with the Administrative Claims Representative's consent.
9 Not just consulting with us and saying we consulted and they 10 went ahead and did it. That would be the only distinction 11 that I would draw. But generally, I think what's been 12 stated is accurate.

13 THE COURT: And the representative --

14 MR. FAIL: I don't know if that's true or not, but 15 I'm happy to say we have their consent --

16 THE COURT: Well, that's my next question. The 17 representative has consent though to this modification --

18 MR. MORABITO: We have consented to this 19 modification, Your Honor, yes.

20 THE COURT: -- of the order that was submitted.
21 Okay. Did anyone else have anything to say on this motion?
22 All right. I will grant the motion. Again, my only concern 23 was I wanted to have confirmation that there was in fact the 24 consent and that the parties agree with me that this wasn't 25 a modification of the plan, this relief. I am satisfied

1 that there is the consent and that it's not a modification
2 of the plan. And further, the request is unopposed, albeit 3 that the Debtor is now seeking to increase the amount that 4 would go out as part of a fourth distribution.

5 In a business matter, the distribution makes 6 sense. We deal with the tax issues first. Given the 7 accrual of significant interest claims that could be also a 8 hundred cent type of claim, it makes sense to pay those 9 amounts now which are undisputed.

10 And then secondly, as far as the roughly 230
11 administrative expense creditors that would be receiving 12 payment in full, that payment amount is relatively modest 13 and there is a significant burden in continuing to track
14 those claims. At this point it would pay off more than half 15 of the administrative expense creditors in full, which is a 16 worthy goal in itself here. That goal wouldn't be meetable, 17 however, if there was significant opposition and if there
18 wasn't there wasn't consent by the Administrative Claims 19 Representative. But there is no opposition and there is 20 that consent.

21 So I will enter the order that you've described as 22 a modified order, Mr. Fail, which you can send to chambers.

23 MR. FAIL: Thank you very much, Your Honor.
24 Appreciate it.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. FAIL: The next item on the agenda I believe 2 is going to be handled by Transform (indiscernible).

3 THE COURT: Okay. I want to -- I actually,
4 because I think this may not take as long, actually skip the 5 Transform matter and go to the third item on the agenda,
6 which is K-Mart Holding Corp. v. Grace and Son Construction
7 Company of Greenville. And I'm doing that in part because I 8 believe that counsel for the Debtor-Plaintiff as well as at 9 least a businessperson from the Defendant here are on the 10 screen. And again, I think this is probably a matter that 11 can be dealt with fairly quickly.

12 It was scheduled by an amended order to show cause
13 that I entered on January 20, 2022, and that order to show
14 cause stated, it is hereby ordered that the duly authorized
15 representative of the parties to that adversary proceeding 16 shall appear on February 24, 2022 to show cause why an 17 answer with attorney representation has not been filed by 18 Defendant, Grace and Son Construction Company of Greenville 19 Inc., and why Defendant has not retained counsel to 20 represent them in this adversary proceeding.

21 Absent the Defendant's appearance and setting
22 forth sufficient cause why it may proceed pro se as a 23 corporate entity, Plaintiff may move for default judgment to 24 be entered pursuant to Rule 55(b)(2) of the Rules of Civil 25 Procedure. And then citing, among other cases, City of New

1 York v. Mickalis Pawn Shop, LLC, 645 F.3d 114, 130 (2nd Cir.
2 2011), where the Second Circuit affirmed the entry of a 3 default judgement against a defendant that had not appeared 4 by counsel in the litigation under the long-running, well-5 established precedent that business entities such as this 6 corporation -- that's the Defendant here -- must appear by 7 counsel in federal court in a proceeding of this nature.

8 So can I take the appearances of the parties to 9 this matter? Just state your name and who you are appearing 10 on behalf of.

11 MR. REDING: Good morning, Your Honor. Richard J.
12 Reding appearing on behalf of the Plaintiff.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Do I have anyone for Grace and 14 Son Construction Company of Greenville?

15 MR. GRACE: Yes, sir. This is Joseph Grace, and I
16 am the president of Grace and Son Construction Company.

17 THE COURT: Okay. And, Mr. Grace, are you a 18 lawyer?

19 MR. GRACE: No. I am the owner of the company. I 20 am a retired contractor right now and can't afford a lawyer.

21 THE COURT: Do you have an in-house counsel?

22 MR. GRACE: I've got an in-house counsel, but he's 23 a South Carolina attorney, not licensed in New York.

24 THE COURT: Well, he can apply -- as long as he's 25 admitted to the bar of South Carolina, he can make what's

1 called pro hac vice application, which are routinely
2 granted, there are about 200 of them at least in the Sears
3 case, to appear and represent your corporation in this 4 adversary proceeding.

5 MR. GRACE: Okay.

6 THE COURT: He doesn't have to be admitted
7 generally to the bar in New York or the Southern District of 8 New York. He can just make that type of application. There 9 are a lot of them on the docket that he can just copy. It's 10 pretty much a form.

11 MR. GRACE: Yes, sir. I felt like I don't even 12 need a lawyer. My contact with them was one job that I did 13 --

14 THE COURT: I understand that, sir. And you have 15 filed an answer and you've responded to interrogatories and 16 the like. But the rule is really clear in the Second 17 Circuit and elsewhere around the country. And it's not just 18 a full employment for lawyers rule, it really -- there is a 19 reason behind it, which is that the courts want to have 20 someone who is within the bar of the court, which includes 21 being admitted pro hac, as I explained it, that is 22 answerable as a lawyer for the conduct of the litigation for 23 each party.

24 So it may be that your in-house counsel may not be 25 doing very much, but he needs to be involved as counsel of

1 record so that when there's a need to deal with disputes, I
2 am interfacing with a lawyer. We let pro se individuals
3 appear by themselves, but the rule is different for a 4 corporation.

5 So the whole purpose of this order to show cause
6 was to flesh this out. And there is a basis for entering a 7 default judgment here, but I'm going to defer -- they 8 haven't even moved for a default judgement yet. And I'm 9 going to give you 30 days for your in-house counsel to make 10 a pro hac motion and appear on behalf of Grace and Son.

11 MR. GRACE: Okay. So I've got to hire a lawyer 12 and --

13 THE COURT: Well, no. Again, I think you've said
14 you have someone in house, right?

15 MR. GRACE: Yes, but I thought you said I have to 16 have a New York lawyer.

17 THE COURT: No, just the opposite. Just the 18 opposite. Let me be clear. This is why you need that rule.
19 Lawyers sort of understand this. That's why they go to law
20 school, to understand terms like pro hac vice and things 21 like that.

22 MR. GRACE: Right.

23 THE COURT: Just like I don't understand terms you 24 use in the construction business. But it's important to 25 have a lawyer here.

1 But I will accept a lawyer who is a member of the 2 bar of -- you said South Carolina?

3 MR. GRACE: Yes, that's correct.

4 THE COURT: All that person needs to do is file an 5 application and email it to my chambers.

6 MR. GRACE: Okay.

7 THE COURT: That's called a pro hac vice 8 application in which this person says I am a member in good
9 standing of the bar of State of South Carolina and I
10 requested admission pro hac vice to the bar of the Southern 11 District of New York for purposes of this adversary 12 proceeding. And the caption would be the caption of the 13 adversary proceeding. And as a matter of routine, those are 14 entered. Your in-house person can look at the docket in the 15 Sears case -- the number of that is on the pleadings -- and 16 he'll find about at least 200 of these. There is a fee 17 involved. There is a filing fee, but it's pretty modest.

18 So you don't have to go and hire an outside
19 lawyer. You don't have to hire a lawyer from New York. You 20 can use your in-house counsel.

21 MR. GRACE: Yes, sir. Thank you. But I, I guess
22 wanted it banned because all my stuff was prior to them 23 declaring bankruptcy.

24 THE COURT: But that's the -- again, this is -- 25 you're in this case because of an adversary proceeding where

1 they're suing your company for having gotten a preference,
2 i.e. a payment on account of debt before the bankruptcy.
3 And so it's a specific set of issues under 547 of the 4 Bankruptcy Code. And it will be dealt with -- there are 5 procedures in place for dealing with these types of 6 adversary proceedings in the case. Your in-house counsel
7 can look at them to the extent you want him to. But I need
8 someone who is appearing on behalf of your company as a 9 lawyer. And your in-house person can do that. All he has 10 to do is do this pro hac application.

11 MR. GRACE: Okay. Well, thank you, sir. I 12 appreciate that.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. GRACE: I will get him to do that.

15 THE COURT: I'll give you 30 days to do that. If 16 it's not done, then the Plaintiff, K-Mart, can move for a 17 default judgment. But 30 days should be more than enough
18 time to do that. Again, go on the docket, he can find one 19 of these samples, do the same thing, just filling in his 20 information. It's two paragraphs. It's really simple.

21 MR. GRACE: Yes.

22 THE COURT: Okay, fine.

23 MR. GRACE: Okay, thank you.

24 THE COURT: Okay, very well. So you can sign off, 25 as can Mr. Reding.

1 MR. REDING: Thank you, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. All right. So let's go back
3 then to the second and I think last matter on the calendar,
4 the other matters being adjourned, which is the latest step
5 in the Transform Holdco/MOAC Mall Holdings LLC dispute.
6 This particular matter was a notice of presentment of 7 scheduling order for Transform Holdco LLC's motion to 8 enforce the order, one, authorizing assumption and 9 assignment of lease with MOAC Mall Holdings LLC, and two, 10 granting related relief that was sought by notice of 11 presentment, but MOAC objected to it.

12 I have read the objection as well as the reply,
13 and I'm happy to hear a brief oral argument on it. Why
14 don't I take the parties' appearances first and then I do
15 have a couple of questions for the parties that will help me 16 understand the posture that we're in here.

17 MR. MARTIN: Good morning, Your Honor. This is 18 Craig Martin from DLA Piper. Can you hear me all right?

19 THE COURT: Yes. Fine, thanks.

20 MR. MARTIN: Appearing on behalf of Transform 21 Holdco and also for MOAC appears. We did also file a notice
22 of the remand under Bankruptcy Rule --

23 THE COURT: Right. And I've seen that.

24 MR. MARTIN: Just making sure you saw that. I'll 25 turn it over to MOAC's counsel for their appearance.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. GALARDI: Good morning, Your Honor. Gregg
3 Galardi on behalf of MOAC Mall Holdings LLC. Good to see 4 you again. I understand that this is a new face, but I'll 5 be representing MOAC on this response today.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning. Well, it's not a
7 new case, it's actually an old one. But I'm sure --

8 MR. GALARDI: Old one with new faces.

9 THE COURT: I'm sure you've come up to speed with 10 it.

11 MR. GALARDI: I have, Your Honor.

12 THE COURT: So the most recent iteration of the 13 parties' disputes, which have been not only before me but 14 before the district court and the circuit and are now the 15 subject of a cert petition was the motion by Transform that 16 I referenced here, i.e. to enforce the assignment order and 17 for related relief. And I had a hearing on that motion 18 which was opposed by MOAC on January 20.

19 The primary and basically exclusive reason for the 20 opposition that I addressed then was that the assignment 21 order was still subject to the appellate process. The 22 mandate had not been issued, and in fact, there was a motion
23 to stay the issuance of the mandate by MOAC pending 24 determination of a petition for certiorari to the supreme 25 court on the 363(m) issue and if cert was granted through

1 the supreme court's determination.

2 So the issue really came down in large part,
3 although there were subsidiary issues that were touched on,
4 to whether the divestiture doctrine applied to the 5 determination that Transform Holdco was seeking. And the 6 primary focus was a concern that a condition of the 7 assignment order, which was that, as stated in Paragraph 17,
8 the buyer, that is Transform, must initially sublet a 9 portion of the premises for the designated lease within two 10 years on the condition that the counterparty to the 11 designated lease does not improperly interfere with the 12 buyer's attempt to sublet the premises for the designated 13 lease.

14 Even with the extension granted by the circuit, 15 that two-year period would expire before Transform could 16 close its transaction with the proposed subtenant. And I
17 dealt with that concern, which was the most pressing one, by 18 suggesting that I was prepared to give an indicative ruling
19 that -- I'm sorry, under Bankruptcy Rule 8008, that my order
20 did not contemplate a situation where Transform had actively 21 sought a subtenant, had located a subtenant. And the two 22 years would expire because of not a delay in obtaining a 23 subtenant, but rather the litigation battle on appeal that 24 ensued after my order authorizing the assumption of 25 assignment.

1 And yes, Mr. Martin, I have seen the order from 2 the Second Circuit which stated after noting the indicative
3 ruling, "Pursuant to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure six 4 and 12.1, this Court remands to the Bankruptcy Court for the 5 limited purpose of ruling on the issue of the two-year
6 deadline. The deadline contained in the August 17, 2021 7 order --" that's the order of the circuit that told the 8 deadline for 60 days, "-- is tolled until the bankruptcy
9 court's resolution of this issue. The Court otherwise 10 retains jurisdiction over this appeal.

11 I will also note that I am aware that the Circuit
12 also granted MOAC's motion for a stay of the issuance of the 13 mandate pending the filing and disposition of a petition for 14 writ of certiorari.

15 So I guess I have one other sort of stage-setting 16 question for this, which is MOAC had made a motion to the 17 circuit that sought alternative forms of relief, either an 18 extension by the circuit of the deadline to sublease, or 19 alternatively, the remand in respect of the indicative 20 ruling. I think it was in respect of that motion that the 21 circuit remanded.

22 I just want to confirm, Mr. Martin, there's 23 nothing left of that motion then, right? The motion isn't 24 before the Circuit still? You're not seeking the other 25 relief at the same time?

1 MR. MARTIN: No. You're correct, Your Honor.

2 Those were alternative requests and we view the order that 3 we submitted as resolving that motion and putting the matter
4 back before Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay. So clearly one thing is back 6 before me at least, which is the form, if you will, of the 7 order on the two-year deadline, which I generally indicated 8 would be consistent with my indicative ruling, which is that 9 it wouldn't apply.

10 There was some discussion on the record of the 11 January 20 hearing as to whether it should just be couched 12 in terms of a reasonable period beyond the two years or 13 whether it should be a full two years, or something in 14 between. And I gather that there has been some -- well, 15 there was an agreement -- correct me if I'm wrong, Mr.
16 Galardi -- that the deadline would not apply at all to the 17 current proposed subtenant.

18 MR. GALARDI: I agree that we offered that. I
19 don't know if Mr. Martin and Transform --

20 THE COURT: You're right. It was offered by MOAC.
21 And I don't know whether that was agreed. And I guess that 22 would have left the other issues open.

23 MR. GALARDI: Correct, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: But in any event, it appears to me
25 that that set of issues, what is the appropriate extension

1 of the two-year deadline, is clearly before me.

2 Transform, consistent with remarks that I made at 3 the January 20 hearing, has also assumed -- and it's 4 reasonable for Transform to assume that since I said the 5 next step would be a scheduling order -- that also before me 6 would be two of the three issues that it raised in the 7 underlying motion to enforce the assumption of assignment 8 order, namely whether there are any limitations under the 9 lease with respect to this proposed subtenant, who we're not 10 identifying by agreement. The parties have all agreed that 11 we wouldn't identify that entity. And then whether the 12 right of first offer, or ROFO has been properly exercised or 13 not.

14 The third request in the motion was whether the 15 so-called litigation contingency in the proposed sublease
16 has been satisfied. And I don't believe that -- well, 17 that's not listed as the two issues, and I think quite 18 properly so given that there is a stay of the mandate and a 19 pending motion for -- I think there's already a motion for 20 cert. Right, Mr. Galardi?

21 MR. GALARDI: No, Your Honor. I think it's due to 22 be filed on March 17.

23 THE COURT: Okay. But it's intended.

24 MR. GALARDI: It's intended to be filed. That is 25 correct, Your Honor.

1 THE COURT: Okay. So really I think for the first 2 time in its objection to the scheduling order on those two 3 issues, MOAC raised the issue of the court's jurisdiction to 4 decide those two issues, both subject matter and in personam
5 jurisdiction.

6 The earlier jurisdictional issue that it had 7 raised was really under the divestiture doctrine, not under 28
8 USC 1334. And obviously the Court's jurisdiction is a 9 gatekeeping issue. So I don't think there's really an issue 10 with the scheduling order itself. It's really just the 11 jurisdictional point.

12 Transform's response, other than saying that I've 13 already ruled on that issue, I don't think really goes into 14 it in any detail. It's a short response. And I really 15 don't believe I have ruled on that issue yet since it wasn't 16 really raised.

17 I know that the reply by Transform states that I
18 sent an email, which of course I did, on February 7 saying
19 that the evidentiary hearing should remain on the calendar 20 as scheduled, which was I think from March 25. But that was 21 in response to an adjournment request by one of MOAC's 22 counsel from February 2nd that really didn't raise the 23 jurisdictional issue, it raised calendar management issues.
24 This is Mr. Otsuka's letter where he basically says since 25 only two of the three issues are being decided or would be

1 decided, why don't you put it off because it's basically a
2 waste of time. If the petition for cert is granted, it's 3 possible that those other two issues would become moot and 4 the Court would have wasted their time in deciding them.
5 And really didn't raise the subject matter jurisdiction
6 issues that are raised in the he objection.

7 And as far as the remarks about a scheduling order
8 at the January 20 hearing, again, the issue of subject
9 matter jurisdiction I don't think really had been raised 10 other than the divestiture doctrine because there was the 11 appeal. And I said that I would contemplate the need for an 12 evidentiary hearing on the two issues because evidence would 13 be required. But again, I was not -- the issue of my 14 subject matter jurisdiction was not raised, I think. It 15 certainly wasn't discussed at that hearing.

16 And I think that in part, this really depends on 17 the timing issue from the section of the assumption and 18 assignment order that I previously quoted if -- put it 19 differently. If MOAC is shown, as set forth in the -- or if 20 it is alleged that MOAC is "improperly" interfering with 21 buyer's attempt to sublet the premises for the designated
22 lease, then I think it's pretty clear I do have jurisdiction 23 that falls within interpreting my order and enforcing that 24 order as to the two-year period under really a lot of 25 caselaw, I guess going back to Petrie Retail, but including

1 Judge Gerber's decision in In re Ames Department Stores
2 Inc., 317 B.R. 250 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2004) and really an 3 enormous, I think at this point, body of caselaw that says
4 that if the issue is the application of the court's order 5 and the interpretation of it, then that's arising in 6 jurisdiction and a core matter. It's Judge Gerber again -- 7 but there are plenty of other cases by other judges in the 8 Southern District that agree with him -- got so worked up
9 with that proposition in In re Motors Liquidation Co, 514
10 B.R. 377 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2014), which was reversed on other 11 grounds, not on the jurisdictional point, that he called the 12 contention frivolous, "disregarding controlling decisions of 13 the United States Supreme Court and Second Circuit; district
14 court authority in this District, four earlier decisions
15 that I personally have issued and three decisions by other
16 bankruptcy judges in the Southern District emulating 17 treatise", Collier.

18 But on the other hand, if the issue is not that 19 timing point -- and I know you haven't briefed this yet, Mr.
20 Martin -- but if the issue is not that timing issue and if 21 that issue really isn't in front of me because it's conceded
22 that the two-year period isn't going to run, I'm not sure 23 what the hook is here as opposed to just going to state 24 court and saying, look, we have an acceptable tenant, the 25 lease doesn't prevent it, MOAC is frustrating our

1 assignment, we seek injunctive relief and monetary relief.

2 So I appreciate you haven't briefed this issue,
3 Mr. Martin. If we're going to go ahead with the schedule on 4 the two issues, I think the first step would be briefing
5 that issue. But I guess I'm sort of giving you a heads up 6 on how I think it will probably come out. And maybe the 7 parties should just be focusing on what's clearly in front 8 of me first, which is, is there going to be any issue about 9 the two years. If there is, then I think we kind of 10 shoehorn into this other dispute. But if there isn't, I'm 11 not sure -- I'm having a hard time seeing a hook. Because 12 I'm not really interpreting my order at that point. The 13 order says that the lease is assigned. It's assigned, as 14 the lease is. You're just asking me to interpret the 15 provisions of the lease.

16 And there's no prior determination by me, as there
17 was in the Ames case and as there was in the Petrie Retail 18 case, on the merits of those two issues. So by raising 19 those two issues, I don't think MOAC is challenging my 20 order. They're accepting that it's assigned for purposes of 21 this litigation, although they have the pending appeal. And 22 I think that is an important distinction between this matter
23 if we're not dealing with that provision in Paragraph 17, 24 the two-year period and the other caselaw.

25 MR. GALARDI: Your Honor, I can affirm on the

1 record -- and I affirm on the record that we deem with 2 respect to this subtenant to be satisfied, waived, with 3 respect to this proposed subtenant and that sublease.

4 THE COURT: Okay. So I know you're facing what 5 you've referred to and I think what I may have referred to 6 as a business deadline as well, i.e. the terms of the 7 sublease. But the bankruptcy court isn't the only court in 8 the country that's sensitive to business deadlines. Courts
9 have TROs just for that purpose.

10 MR. MARTIN: Yes, Your Honor. I was letting you
11 finish. If you are, I'll be happy to respond.

12 THE COURT: Yeah. And I'm sorry for going on at 13 length, but I just wanted to lay that out. I'm fully 14 expecting you to respond to those points.

15 MR. MARTIN: Very helpful to get the Court's 16 thoughts. Two quick comments and then an idea. The first 17 comment is I certainly appreciate the Court's statements on 18 not having ruled on the 1334(b) issues. I did review the 19 transcript of January 20 and there was a portion of the 20 colloquy where the Court talked about if Transform had not 21 paid cure, that you would have core jurisdiction to 22 interpret the order. And since we are viewing this as 23 interpreting the order, we consider that the cases that you
24 cited today and the points you made had been squarely before
25 the Court. But certainly understand that you feel the need

1 to look at it.

2 And we certainly feel that under 1334(b), your 3 jurisdiction is original, but not exclusive. So we submit 4 that you have continuing subject matter jurisdiction.

5 I want to comment though on Mr. Galardi's 6 conception that the two years doesn't apply with respect to 7 this sublease. If that concession also includes an 8 acknowledgement that we have satisfied the right of first 9 refusal and that this tenant is appropriate, that would in 10 fact solve the problem. But simply saying that two years is 11 satisfied but continuing to object to our provision of the 12 6.3(a) right and its rejection and coming forward with a 13 tenant that is appropriate under the lease in accordance 14 with Paragraph 17 of the order, we submit leaves those 15 issues open in front of Your Honor with subject matter 16 jurisdiction and can be decided.

17 THE COURT: Well, let me make sure. Is there a 18 timing issue on the right of first refusal?

19 MR. MARTIN: The rights in Paragraph 17 are 20 separate. So the first part of that paragraph says that we 21 must comply with Section 6.3(a). and then the separate 22 condition is that we lease at least a portion of the 23 property within the two-year period. So what we did is we 24 notified them of the fact that we had entered into the 25 sublease and gave them the right of first refusal. They

1 responded to that by stating that they reject the right of 2 first refusal subject to the fact that they object that the 3 tenant is an appropriate tenant under the lease. So it's 4 not clear to us that they have actually acknowledged that we 5 gave them and that they rejected the 6.3(a) right as 6 provided for in Paragraph 17.

7 THE COURT: But again, look, I don't want to go
8 too far with this. But I'm trying to lay out for you all --
9 because ultimately what we are here on is a scheduling
10 matter. That's what we're here on today.

11 MR. MARTIN: And that's why I had an idea --

12 THE COURT: -- is that if the parties can't 13 resolve the issue on Paragraph 17 of the order, the two-year
14 period and the improperly interfering language, then I think 15 the first thing you need to put in the scheduling order is 16 briefing on the jurisdictional points. And then you can put 17 in the scheduling order if the Court finds jurisdiction, 18 we'll deal with the following issues in the following
19 manner. And maybe that's all that we're going to come out 20 with today. But I'm also suggesting to you that that may 21 lead to the expense of valuable time for Transform with the 22 result where the Court may well find that there isn't 23 jurisdiction.

24 If in fact there is an agreement that the two-year
25 period is just not going to apply here -- now, the reason I

1 asked you about the right of first refusal is that I guess I 2 can understand that you would want to include that in an 3 agreement by MOAC that it wouldn't apply to this tenant, 4 subtenant, if there was a time limit also on exercising the 5 right of first refusal or making that right available. But 6 I didn't hear from your answer and I don't remember from the 7 lease, but I don't think this is the case, that there is 8 such a time limit. It's kind of a standalone provision that 9 the owner has to fish or cut bait on the right of first 10 refusal. And if it doesn't, it doesn't.

11 So unless they're basically saying, which I don't 12 think they're saying, you haven't really brought me a deal
13 yet that I can exercise my right of first refusal on, I'm 14 not sure why you're pressing for that extra concession. But 15 that's not a ruling. It's just some guidance on where we 16 want to go with this litigation.

17 MR. MARTIN: Well, I think you hit the nail on the 18 head, Your Honor, which is the last sentence that you said
19 is exactly our concern. The time limits are in Section 20 6.3(a). We believe we've complied with them. They reserve 21 their right to object to the fact that we have.

22 THE COURT: Well, I don't know if you've discussed
23 this among ourselves. I think you probably ought to.
24 Because, again, one thing is clear. I need to issue an 25 order on the remand, which is just what to do about this

1 two-year period in Paragraph 17. If you can agree on that,
2 that may just end it. So I actually said the first thing
3 would be briefing jurisdiction, but I actually don't think 4 that's the first thing. The first thing is to give you time
5 to agree on the form of that order if you can. If you
6 can't, just tell me. And if you can't agree on it, then 7 we'll deal with the jurisdictional briefing point, which you 8 would put at the front of your scheduling order and just 9 suggest the deadlines accordingly for a ruling on 10 jurisdiction.

11 But if there's an offer that doesn't prejudice
12 Transform as to the timing point on this subtenant, I don't 13 understand why we're even here. At that point I think 14 you're in all likelihood in state court in Minnesota or 15 federal court in Minnesota and seeking injunctive relief to 16 enforce the lease.

17 Now, it may be that that court would say, you 18 know, unlike my reaction to Mr. Otsuka's letter, I want to 19 see what this report does first, that's possible, I guess.
20 But on the other hand, you do have a deal issue, and this 21 Court may say no, I'm going to hear this on a fast schedule.
22 You know, depending on what the Supreme Court does, I want 23 the parties to be ready one way or another on this issue.

24 But I do think there is a distinguishing -- 25 subject to seeing briefing of course -- fact here, which is

1 from all the cases like, you know, Travelers, Petrie Retail,
2 Ames, GM, Portrait Corp of America, all those cases dealt 3 with issues that the bankruptcy court in approving a sale or 4 an assignment had already addressed. Either what was free
5 and clear, what wasn't free and clear, what had to be paid, 6 what didn't. And then the owner or the party asserting an 7 interest turned around and sued the buyer or assignee for 8 breaching provisions of the lease or on account of interest 9 that the bankruptcy had already said didn't have to be 10 cured. So other than this two-year period, I don't see a 11 provision in my order that says that you have to exercise
12 the right of first refusal in this way.

13 So I understand the timing point. Maybe I don't 14 remember the right of first refusal provision accurately, 15 but I don't think -- well, put it differently. If MOAC is 16 saying we'll waive the two-year period for this subtenant, 17 but they have their fingers crossed behind their back and 18 they're saying ah-ha, but we're going to get you on the ROFO 19 because two years has passed and there's some limitation on 20 making it available to us to exercise the ROFO. I 21 understand that point completely, and I think MOAC should 22 realize that they're going to lose if they -- you know,
23 point that out to me on the order on remand. But otherwise,
24 I'm having a hard time seeing why this would be different 25 than any other breach claim. You know, in this case they're

1 breaching the lease by not exercising the ROFO right.

2 MR. MARTIN: I certainly understand Your Honor's
3 point. And to summarize, I think I'm certainly happy to 4 meet and confer with Mr. Galardi over the remand portion of 5 the order. He submitted a case in the last couple of days, 6 but we obviously know each other quite well. So, happy to 7 do that.

8 And then to update on the if we are unable to 9 reach an agreement on some of the issues that give us 10 concern over our timing and jurisdictional issues, happy to 11 amend the scheduling order to put briefing in first.

12 THE COURT: So the amendments to the scheduling 13 order if you can't reach agreement on the remand point would 14 be first a hearing on the proper form of that order.

15 MR. MARTIN: Okay.

16 THE COURT: Second, the briefing on jurisdiction,
17 and then build in a period for discovery and an evidentiary 18 hearing assuming for the moment that I found that there was 19 jurisdiction. Obviously, that would go away if I didn't.

20 And you can -- frankly, you could combine the 21 first two in one hearing. You know, it's not an evidentiary 22 hearing, it's just I'll decide what's the proper form of the 23 order and then the jurisdictional point.

24 MR. MARTIN: Right. And that's what I wanted to 25 update Your Honor on. We have in fact exchanged pretty

1 limited document requests with one another, even though this 2 scheduling order was pending. But as you appreciate, we 3 have our deal clock ticking. So it may be that we go ahead
4 and confer with Mr. Galardi over that and proceed with 5 discovery.

6 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I did have one other 7 suggestion to you all which I'll just throw out, which is if 8 this fight is not over ultimately whether this is a great 9 subtenant or not, but just who gets the money from the 10 subtenant, I don't see why either side doesn't agree to the 11 subtenancy, reserving all rights to the money. Then you at 12 least get someone occupying the space, which isn't very 13 attractive to the Mall of America, and they can just -- you 14 can just fight over the money.

15 Now, I'm not saying that they necessarily are the 16 best subtenant that you could find, or that they're even a 17 qualifying subtenant. But if the parties actually deep down 18 understand that they are, you know, get them in there, get 19 them paying rent, and then have the rent just set aside 20 until there is a decision on the cert petition. And if it's 21 granted, you know, a decision by the supreme court. And 22 then you have the bird in hand, you have the money, and the 23 only issue is who it goes to.

24 So I'm just throwing that out. No one has to 25 comment on that. But I don't see why you wouldn't talk

1 about that, too.

2 MR. MARTIN: Well, I'm glad you threw it out.

3 Because if you looked at the affidavits we submitted in the 4 Second Circuit, we've made that offer in the past. And 5 hopefully something that MOAC might be willing to look at 6 again.

7 THE COURT: Yeah. I'm just not sure there's a 8 whole lot of negotiating leverage in keeping them out, in 9 other words. But I'm just throwing that out.

10 Let's go back to the scheduling order. I think 11 you all know what I have in mind as far as the scheduling 12 order. And hopefully you'll reach agreement on the terms of 13 resolving the two-year period which was, you know, what the 14 remand clearly dealt with.

15 MR. GALARDI: Your Honor, it's Gregg Galardi. I 16 learned long ago not to say anything when I think you've 17 done exactly what we asked to do. So I appreciate it, and 18 we'll work with Mr. Martin on the form of order.

19 THE COURT: Okay, very well. So I think that 20 should probably take no more than a week. I mean, I know 21 there are some difficult issues to work through, but it's 22 basically a couple paragraphs in the sublease agreement to 23 focus on. And so I think by next Friday -- not tomorrow, 24 but next Friday if you haven't done that, you should get to 25 Ms. Li a date for the hearing on the first two points on the

1 scheduling order, which would be the proper form of that 2 order that the circuit remanded for me to decide and the 3 jurisdiction point.

4 MR. GALARDI: Thank you, Your Honor.

5 MR. MARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor. We will 6 strive to do so. Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Okay. So, Ms. Marcus, I think that's 8 the end of the agenda, right, for today?

9 MS. MARCUS: I think that's right, Your Honor.
10 Thank you very much.

11 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Very well. Thank 12 you.
